Dear Larry,

When I first contacted you regarding your services, I expected the usual offering of analyzing my business, and recommending new systems. Our experience has been anything but the usual.

Your advice and counseling gave me the insight to see in clear and unambiguous terms the cogent issues which had to be resolved if we were to reach our goals. Sometimes your advice was not easy to take, but you were always on target.

You have met the terms of the engagement superbly. I must say however, that the results actually achieved were not considered a possibility when we first started the process.

I would recommend your services to any business where personnel interaction and alignment of goals and objectives are critical success factors.

Kind Regards,

Boyd Jackman
President
